SINGLE BLESSEDNESS.

A Contented Old Maid Discusses the Marriage Question.

A Few Prominent Hints on the Education of Girls—Marriage a Bad Lottery and, at the Best, a State Full of Care, Worry and Anxieties.

I have met with very few unmarried ladies who have not appeared to me to feel, after the age of thirty, that their existence was thoroughly comfortable and contented. I have met with many who have expressed themselves thus openly; and that such is the fact can very easily be learned by an accurate observer of the human countenance. It is also certain that three out of every five of the young ladies of the present day must remain unmarried, because so many young men think they can not exist on less than two thousand a year when married, and how few men there are of two thousand a year compared with the number of young ladies in the country! There are sometimes five, six, eight girls in one family; generally all of them are married, and the mother, a greater share of happiness, or, at least, a greater share of peace, than the unmarried women—many possessing talents of no ordinary stamp—yet, perhaps, in our drawing-rooms these lovely and accomplished beings are completely neglected by the other sex, because (I must repeat the sentiment) they are not a man's idea of a woman. I never talk to girls. I dare not pay attention to unmarried women, because I am not a marrying man; my friend, —, flirts with so-and-so, and was accused of behaving improperly. I don't like to excite false hopes; I shall never marry, unless I can find a wife with at least two or three thousand a year, because I am much richer with the small fortune I have.

It is of no use to quarrel with the state of society to be; but, then, I have generally said, we can not alter it; but I think it might be beneficial to give a few hints on the education of women, which might perhaps be useful in procuring them, in a state of single blessedness, as it is very falsely called, a greater share of happiness, or, at least, a greater share of peace, than they at present appear to me to possess after the awful age of thirty.

A girl at thirty is called an old maid. She goes to a ball, and generally sits next to the dancing, or dances with some gentle man who has been asked often to dine at her father's house, and who, perhaps, remarks: "Miss — is rather puffy—a good old girl—and I must do my duty there; and now I shall dance with the beautiful Miss —." My heart always bleeds for these poor old girls continually. There are certainly some single women whose talents have made them as much considered in society as they ought to be; but, then, I have generally said, they have fortunes, or have had advantages above others to bring them into notice, and to give to the natural ambition of the human species some scope of action.

I will suppose a case in which there are four girls—moderate proportion in one family—and two sons; and I will suppose their father possesses five thousand a year. I will suppose one of the four young ladies very pretty, one tolerably pretty and the other two rather plain. They have been educated, in all probability, as the greater proportion of American girls are. First of all they go every Sunday to church, and are moderately rich, perfectly honorable, upright and well principled. It is only for their own happiness that I would propose any change in the education of a class for whom I entertain so high a respect.

These four young ladies have all been brought up with the idea that they will become wives and mothers, and are taught to cherish these natural affections which, if by some remote chance one out of the four ever does marry, will make her so amiable and lovely as a married woman. They are all allowed to read modern novels, at least all such as are considered to have a moral tendency. None will maintain that there is scarcely one of these works which does not impress any young woman with the idea that happiness can alone be found in love and marriage.

The heroine is very amiable and perfect, surrounded with admirers, all contending for the honors of her least notice; but where is the novel which represents four poor, pretty, untaught girls, who are destined to pass their young years without so much as one admirer amongst them! Year after year passes—their bloom and beauty fade—and my four lovely and accomplished warm-hearted beings, having seen all their youthful castles fall one by one, become listless and unhappy. They have little life to interest them; one dies of a complaint of the spine; another lives many years, but is root and calf-foot jelly, and is enveloped in flannel even in July; a third is under the care of a Dr. S. for indigestion; and, perhaps, the fourth, who is made of tougher material and born with less feeling than the others—or, perhaps, from having something to occupy her mind, in preparing the arrow-root for one sister and ordering the hard dumplings prepared by Dr. S. for the other—outlives her sorrows and disappointments; and if she takes an interest in her brother's children, or a share in their education, or in something which gives vent to those affections which are implanted by nature in the breast of woman, she becomes happy.

Then, then, appears to me to be the second too much neglected in female education. Teach the girls, by all means, that one great source of happiness consists in the indulgence of virtuous affection; but do not teach them that there is no affection capable of producing this happiness except such as may be felt for a lover or husband. If the heart be properly regulated it may take a warm and sufficiently engrossing interest in many objects less intimately connected with it. Marriage is a lottery, and, at the best, is a state full of care and anxieties. Freedom and independence ought not to be lightly parted with, or set down as possessions of little value.

Care of Umbrellas.
Umbrellas will last much longer if, when they are wet, they are placed handle downward to dry. The moisture falls to the edge of the frame and the fabric dries uniformly. If stood handle upward, as is commonly the case, the top of the umbrella holds the moisture, owing to the lining underneath the ring; it consequently takes a long time to dry, and injures the silk or other fabric with which it is covered. This is the main cause of the umbrella wearing out so soon at the top. Umbrella cases are responsible for the wear of the silk. The constant friction causes tiny holes that appear so provokingly early. When not in use the umbrella should be left closed and when wet left loose to dry.

MEN AND CLOTHES.

A Bright Woman Writes about the Possibilities of the Male Sex.

A lady signing herself Kate True has taken "it up" for the women in the columns of the Detroit Free Press. Kate says: I attended a woman's meeting the other day where some of the representative women of Boston were assembled. The subject under discussion was "dress." After the ethical side of dress had been duly considered, and the doleful gowns, frowned upon, one sweet-voiced sister arose and said: "Why could we not be sensible like men; they are never bothered about their clothes; a dress suit was always a dress suit!" I looked at the speaker curiously; she was in earnest; and then I remembered that she belonged to that estimable class called spinsters, and did not know any better. In all the ups and downs and ins and outs of the kaleidoscopic world I recall certain scenes in a household of men when dressing for a party. I remember, with certain nervous twinges, the demands for needle and thread; the utterances shot across, but strong, concerning a delinquent tailor; the angry writhings given an innocent necktie, and the fearful denunciations of some far-away landlady.

"Men never bother about their clothes!" Saints and angels doubt and wonder at the suggestion of a wrinkle across the shoulders, back it goes, and is considered a "misfit." As to the pantaloons, have I not twisted my neck even worse than any photographer ever did to see if they were not a trifle too long, or too short, and didn't I consider them a little fish in the rear, or a little snug at the knees, or a trifle too springy at the bottom!

If men "do not bother about clothes," why were crazy quilts ever made to use up the superfluous neckties, shawls and scarves? As to cosmetics, Tom Debutant has ten to every one of his sisters, and perfumes are the delight of the masculine nostrils. Ask your druggist who buys them, and then ask every wife who uses them up for her. Only the other day a bright woman remarked concerning a popular physician that he was the "Otter of Roses" in the morning, "German Cologne" at noon and "Horse" at night.

Go on in the innocence of your spiritual heart, most learned maiden, but believe me, when I tell you, from the mountain top of experience, that for unadorned fussiness, from the end of a waxed mustache to the toe of a pump, or the fractional section of a white cuff below a coat sleeve, the sex that wears "bothers" more about clothes than we poor sinners. In this respect they are "superior."

MAX O'RELL'S IDEAS.

Extracts from the Bright Frenchman's Book on Brother Jonathan.

If good style consists in not doing what the vulgar do, good style in America ought to consist for one thing in wearing no diamonds—unless democracy should demand the sign of equality. Diamonds are worn by the women of fashion, the tradesman's wife, shop girls, work girls, servants—all the womanhood. If you see a shabbily dressed woman who has not a pair in her ears, you may take it for granted that she has put them in pawn. Naturally, in America, as elsewhere, all that sparkles is not diamonds.

There is a pronounced childish side to the character of all Americans. In less than a century they have stridden ahead of all the nations of the Old World; they are astonished at their own progress, and like children with a splendid toy of their own manufacture in their hands, they say to you: "Look, just look, is it not a beauty!" And, indeed, the fact is that, for him that will look at it with unprejudiced eyes, the achievement is simply marvelous.

Should a minister indulge in unorthodox theories in the pulpit, the Eastern man will content himself with shaking his head and going to another church to perform his devotions the Sunday after. The Pennsylvanian will open a violent polemic in the newspapers of the locality. The Kansas man will wait for the minister at the church door and give him a sound thrashing.

American hospitality is princely. You are not often invited even in houses where the daily menu is of the most appetizing, to go and share the family dinner. You are not invited to dine, a fete is got up for you. If this can not be arranged you may not be invited at all.

America suffers from this state of things. The country's genius, instead of consecrating all its time to the production of works which would tend to elevate the ideas and aspirations of the people, is obliged to think of money-making.

To the American woman the diamond is not an object of luxury, it is an object of prime necessity. An English old maid would do without her tea before an American woman would go without diamonds.

The well-bred American is to my mind a happy combination of the Frenchman and the Englishman, having less stiffness than the latter and more simplicity than the former.

The character of the American is English from the fact of view of its contrasts and contradictions, and is French from the fact of its similarity to the Englishman.

This necessity for being rich is the reverse side of the moral in America, where, more than anywhere else, talent without money is a useless tool.

The American may be eccentric, or what you will, but he is never monotonous.

Victoria's First Hoop-Skirt.

The following anecdote is told to illustrate the readiness with which Parisian fashions are adopted, even by the most rigidly patriotic of Princesses. At the epoch of the arrival of Queen Victoria in Paris in 1856, on a visit to the Emperor and Empress, the latter had just brought hoop skirts into vogue. The Queen forthwith sent her own messenger to purchase one for her, and on her next approach before her Imperial host and hostess her skirts were expanded into the new and fashionable amplitude. But her Majesty had not comprehended the necessary methods of tying the tapes that held the hoops in place, and her crinoline presented an extraordinary and shapeless aspect. It was the Emperor himself who, with his own imperial hands, set the rebellious petticoats to rights, and gave his royal guest a lesson as to the proper method of donning the new-fashioned adjunct of feminine costume.

Danger in Toilet Soaps.

Every body does not know, says a health journal, that soaps, especially in hotels, become, not infrequently, a source of disease. About every man in fifty has some sort of contagious skin disease. Soaps and towels in hotels and public institutions are often a means of communicating maladies not by any means easy to eradicate. Better go with dirty hands and face than to run the risk of contracting a distressing or offensive malady.

5 O'CLOCK EDITION.

A Blow at Reno.

The full text of the decision of the Supreme Court in the Reduction Works water suit has not been received in Reno and its exact effect cannot be stated. But one thing is certain and that is that if the Reduction Works are to be killed off there is but little prospect ahead for Reno. They have a better chance to succeed than any woolen mill or paper factory or any similar institution, and if they fail no capital can be induced to come here for anything. The water power of such a set of machinery is just like the arterial system of the human body. It is under full pressure all over and the puncture of a pin is death. In coming to the pond to take out their ditch just behind the dam the State officials cut into the heart of the system.

The reduction works dam and ditch was a notice to the world, that two hundred horse power could be obtained on every thousand feet of river bank along the Truckee. The action of the State officials is a notice to all business men that there is no safety in investments in Nevada. That the State itself has no policy that will prevent the breaking down of private enterprises by its own acts. We cast no reflections upon the attorneys or the courts. The lawyers owe their first duty to their profession, the courts theirs to the law, but neither duty, business judgment nor fair dealing had anything to do with the official acts of those who instituted this contest. Even if they have a technical right to come into private grounds and tap the pond of a neighbor, they have no moral right. No one else ever did it. If it had been the mill pond of a Carson river company armed men would have prevented it, and they would have been sustained by the community.

The State should be the last one to interfere with private enterprise. There is not another State in the West but what is doing something to induce outside capital to come to them. But Nevada, which needs capital more than any other State in the Union, goes out of its way to attack capital the moment it settles in the State. So far from realizing their true relations to the tax-paying part of the community, our officials reverse the rule of right, and instead of extending a welcome to all who can contribute to our prosperity, they use the whole machinery of Government and draw upon the State Treasury to crush out infant industries. We say, even if they have a technical right recognized by the Courts to do this, it is contrary to public policy and contrary to all business ethics.

As a matter of fact, the State could have gotten water more cheaply and with no risk to any other power for less money than it cost to tap the dam. That is not our opinion only, but that of experts who have studied the whole situation.

The dispatches announce that the Australians are warmly, even excitedly supporting the American view of the Samoan question, by which we must understand, of course, not the position taken by Mr. Bayard, but that entertained by the mass of American people, and which is adverse to the destruction of the independence of the island Government, and opposed to the domination of any power except that of the native Government.

The "Four Hundred" of New York propose to have nothing to do with the Centennial ball because "members of the Legislature and common people" have been invited. Heaven be praised and the common people be congratulated. These exclusives who cannot bear the idea of "the people" taking part in their own celebration are cut too much on the bias for a free country.

The call on Governor Stevenson to appoint a Regent in the place of Judge Wells is premature. He has not resigned and probably will not until after the Supreme Court has passed upon the Constitutionality of the law under which he was appointed to the bench.

Fatal Collision.

CHICAGO, April 10.—The following is an authoritative account of the accident on the Chicago, Santa Fe & California Railroad this morning: The regular east-bound train was just leaving Lorenzo Station, fifty miles from Chicago, at 4:30, when the accident occurred. Attached to the rear of the train was the private car of Manager McCool of the California Central, occupied by J. F. Hart, Mayor of Brookline, Mass., and a Director of the California Central, his wife, his son Henry, Robert Hart, his niece, Miss Winslow, J. D. Lamb, a porter known only as Harry, and a cook named Thomas Smith. Just as the train was pulling out of the station an extra fast stock train that was following, ran into the rear end of the passenger train at a high rate of speed, completely demolishing the private car and exploding the boiler of the freight engine. A large quantity of steam escaped, scalding those who escaped from the effects of the crash. As soon as the wreck could be cleared to allow the removal of the dead and wounded, they were found to be as follows:

Killed, Miss Winslow, Henry Hart and the porter; scalded, J. F. Hart and wife, J. D. Hilmer, a brakeman, J. L. Lamb and one other. The engineer and fireman of the freight train jumped and escaped injury. None of the cars except that of Hart's were seriously damaged. The dead and wounded were put upon a train and brought to this city.

The bodies of the dead were taken to an undertaking establishment and the wounded were conveyed to Mercy Hospital. It cannot be learned that Manager McCool was on board. The party in his car were friends who have been visiting him at Los Angeles. It is difficult to get the exact facts. One account says the freight engineer was crushed to a jelly. Another, that he escaped unhurt. It is also stated that several of the wounded in the other cars of the train were left at the scene of the accident. This is not believed to be true, as the other cars were not badly damaged.

Boston, April 10.—John F. Hart and party, who were in the accident of the Santa Fe road near Chicago this morning, left here February 7 on an excursion to the Southwest and were returning home. Hart was formerly in the boot and shoe business, but had retired from active business.

W. Lamb, who was injured, was a medical officer of the Atchison road.

An Understanding.

WASHINGTON, April 10.—It is authoritatively stated at the Department of State that the three treaty powers concerned in Samoan affairs—England, Germany and the United States—have reached an understanding, by the terms of which they will each keep but one war vessel at Samoa pending the termination of the Berlin conference. The vessel to be sent there by the United States will be the Albatross, one thousand tons, now at Honolulu. The German Corvette Sophie, now on the way out from Zanzibar, will represent the German interests, while England will doubtless order the Calliope to return to Samoa from Sydney, or will replace her if she is materially damaged by the hurricane.

A Gamblers Fight.

SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Petaluma, Cal., April 10.—The schooner Agnes Jones, plying between Petaluma and San Francisco, while on her down trip this morning, took fire, and the vessel and cargo are a total loss. The vessel was owned by Captain Robert Jones, and was valued at $3,500. Her cargo was thirty-five tons of hay, owned by T. C. Putnam of Vallejo township, and was valued at $300. No insurance.

C. P. Officers Re-Elected.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 9.—The stockholders of the Central Pacific Railroad Company held a quiet election this afternoon and re-elected all the former directors of the company as follows: Leland Stanford, C. P. Huntington, Charles F. Crocker, A. N. Towne, Timothy Hopkins, E. H. Miller, Jr., and C. E. Brotherton. The annual meeting will be held next Thursday.

Harrison Better.

WASHINGTON, April 10.—President Harrison's health is greatly improved, and he has decided not to take the proposed sail on Chesapeake Bay.

Anticipated Trouble.

WASHINGTON, April 10.—No end of trouble is anticipated from the enormous rush of boomers to Oklahoma. There are only about 10,000 quarter sections, and about 100,000 have made arrangements for invading the promised land the moment the President drops the hat. The most reasonable estimate that can be made puts about five claimants to every quarter section. For every well-watered and situated quarter section, there will be dozens of claimants, and they will all initiate their claims so nearly simultaneously that as the only witnesses will be rival claimants, it will be simply impossible to determine who located first, and hundreds of disputes will have to be settled by primitive appeal to force. It is expected that nine-tenths of those who fail to get land will spread out on the lands of the civilized Indians and nothing short of the whole United States army can get them off, so the boomers will probably get the lands and the Government will settle with the Indians.

A Threatened Drought.

DETROIT, April 10.—The light snows and no heavy rains during the past winter have resulted in the most remarkable drought this Spring that the lumber regions of upper Michigan have ever experienced, and over 1,000,000,000 logs that are banked and ready to be floated to the mills below are hung up because there is not enough water in the streams to float them. Heavy and continued rains alone will be able to rescue this winter's cut, and thus keep the mills running.

The tug Downing and Consorts, with the Moiles Bros' sawmill aboard, are reported fast in the ice at Drummond's Bay.

Sheriff McDermie and posse arrived here this morning and shortly left on a tug for Drummond's Bay, and will endeavor to serve a writ of attachment. No attention will be paid to the writ, however, and as the forces of the Moiles Bros. greatly outnumber those of the Sheriff, it is not likely that any attempt will be made to take forcible possession of the vessel.

Severe Storm.

NEW YORK, April 10.—The steamer Chattanooga, which arrived from Savannah to-day, was three days overdue and in a battered condition. She carried 135 passengers. On Saturday morning she was struck by a heavy gale, and the hull at one time covered her deck to a depth of two feet. Early Sunday morning giant waves in quick succession swept the deck and nearly swamped the vessel. This continued forty-eight hours, during which time a panic prevailed among the passengers. The vessel was lying in the meantime and drifting. The Captain says it was the worst storm that he ever experienced.

A Senator Elected.

PROVIDENCE, April 10.—In joint assembly to-day the Legislature chose Nathan F. Dixon as United States Senator.

Dixon is a lawyer, and has been a member of the State Senate since 1885. He was a member of Congress from the Second District for one month in 1885 to fill a vacancy. His father, Nathan F. Dixon, has represented Rhode Island in both Houses of Congress.

Dark Looking Case.

NEW YORK, April 10.—Treasury Agent Simons and his assistants spent several hours this morning in the art room of Allard & Son, whose smuggling operations have kept the Custom-house officers busy of late. There have been important developments, and he deplores the fact that one of the firm is not within the reach of the United States law.

Tracking Moonshiners.

LOUISVILLE, April 9.—The expedition against the moonshiners of Deputy Marshal Weirman has been resumed. Revenue Agent Brown, with forty men, is on the way to Knott county, where the moonshiners are encamped about their stills. It is understood that he is acting under orders just received from Washington. A fight is expected.

A Proposed Match.

NEW YORK, April 10.—Richard K. Fox received the following dispatch this morning from the California Athletic Club:

"We will make a purse of $3,000 for the Reagan and Dempsey match. Answer."

Skipped Over the Line.

DETROIT, April 10.—J. G. Thompson, the missing Postal Clerk of Columbus, Ohio, who left Detroit suddenly on Monday night when he learned that the authorities knew of his whereabouts, is now at the British America Hotel, Windsor. Thompson is a son of the late John G. Thompson, a well-known Ohio politician.

A Time Convention.

NEW YORK, April 10.—The time convention of railroad men began its session this morning with closed doors. The chief object of the convention will be the selection of a date on which the spring time-tables shall go into effect.

Nearly Ready.

WASHINGTON, April 10.—The Commandant of the Norfolk Navy Yard has reported to Secretary Tracy that the Pensacola is fitted and has not been strained. The accident will not cause over a week's delay in the work of repairing.

Boiler Explosion.

SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
WOODLAND, Cal., April 10.—The boiler exploded at Nelson's nursery last night. John Daniels, the engineer, was killed, and Frank Nelson and Ab. Daniels were injured.

Dead Naval Officer.

WASHINGTON, April 10.—Rear Admiral Thos. H. Patterson, U. S. N., retired, died last night from exhaustion, consequent upon a long illness. The funeral will take place to-morrow.

Longstreet Burned Out.

ATLANTA, Ga., April 10.—General James Longstreet's family residence in Gainesville was burned yesterday. Loss, $10,000.

Enough Exploration.

PORT ANGELES, April 10.—The fishing schooner Cumberland, which arrived from Kodiak Island, Alaska, brings the news of the lost Lonsdale, who started about a year ago on a trip to the North Pole. Lonsdale and a number of Esquimaux and an Indian guide reached Kodiak about the middle of February in a furnished and exhausted condition from an isolated mission near the mouth of the Kukekin river, which empties into Bristol Bay.

Rabbit Inoculation.

SYDNEY, N. S. W., April 10.—The committee appointed to investigate the discovery of Pasteur for the extermination of rabbits have made a report. They found that rabbits which had been inoculated with virus of chicken cholera, of which they ate food which had been infected with the virus, died, but that the disease was not communicated by one rabbit to another.

The Parnell Commission.

LONDON, April 10.—Sir Charles Russell continued his argument for the Parnellites before the Parnell Commission to-day. He expects to finish on Friday, when the Commission will adjourn until April 30th. Upon the resumption of the Commission, Parnell will be called to the witness box.

Countermanded Order.

WASHINGTON, April 10.—Orders for the Richmond to proceed from the mouth of the Platt River, South America, to Samoa have been countermanded, and the work on the Adams, now at Maro Island, which was also to have gone, will not be pushed with such expedition.

Buried Her Aunt.

LONDON, April 10.—The funeral of Duchess of Cambridge, aunt of Queen Victoria, took place to-day. Her Majesty viewed the remains before the coffin was closed and was deeply affected.

Bar silver, 92½.

Referred to the Devil.

A Tennessee county editor who went off on his summer vacation left the following notice on his office door: "Will be gone for several days and have left matters in charge of the office boy. People who wish to pay subscriptions will please go to my wife. Those who have complaints to make will please go to the devil."

Good Salmon Catch.

In five days, since the season opened on the Columbia river, over 5,000 salmon, the largest and finest imaginable, have been received at Portland, weighing 150,000 pounds. The supply for the local market is bought at 6 cents a pound, the remainder being shipped to canneries down the Columbia.

In Town and Hamlet.

The seeds of intermittent and bilious remittent fever germinate and bear evil fruit. No community has altogether escaped it. In populous wards of large cities bad sewage cause it; and in their suburbs stagnant pools in sunken lots breed it. There is at once a remedy and a means of prevention. Its name is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which, without prejudice, the most potent antidote in existence to the malarial virus. Fortified with this incomparable, saving specific, miasmatic influences may be encountered with absolute impunity. Disorders of the stomach, liver and bowels, begotten by miasmatic tainted water or any other cause, succumb to the beneficent corrective named, and rheumatic kidney and bladder troubles are surely removable by its use when it is given a persistent trial.

The immediate symptoms of Dyspepsia, or Indigestion, are a distressing sense of weight, oppression and fullness in the stomach, belching, flatulency, nausea, pains in the shoulders and breast. Dr. Hensley's Dandelion Tonic promotes healthy digestion and removes all unhealthy symptoms. Sold by William Finner.

THE BUILDING AND LOAN.

Subscribe Now, Help It Along and Benefit Yourself.
Subscribe now for shares in the Union Building and Loan Association of Reno, organized on the installment plan. The regular installments from the capital, which is loaned to members only. The business is managed directly by the depositors. Governor Brackett of Massachusetts employed the following illustration to make clear the practical advantage of such associations: A single example will show how such an association benefits a borrowing member. C and D occupy adjoining houses worth $3,000 each—lot $600, building $2,400—C rents his at the rate of $25 a month. D buys his lot and borrows the $2,400 to build his house of a building and loan association, paying five per cent. premium. If D's shares mature in ten years, their accounts will stand as follows: C has paid out $3,000 and has nothing to show for it. D has paid out $2,880 as monthly dues and interest, $120 as premium on loans, and $770 for searching title taxes, insurance and interest on the value of lot, in all, $3,770; that is, D paying out in the same time what C has paid out in 10 years. How can I invest my money to make it pay a fair interest and at the same time insure its safety? is a question daily asked by thousands. Take stock in your local building and loan association. The following example demonstrates that it will pay you a good interest on your investment. "What rate of interest do I receive on five shares, does $1 per share if the series runs out in nine and one-half years?" The aggregate of installments on one share for nine and one-half years or 114 months is $114 and the difference between $200, the final value, and $114, the amount paid, is the interest of this money. One dollar on interest for 114 months is equivalent to $114 on interest for one month, and one dollar on interest for 113 months is equivalent to $113 on interest for one month, and so on for each installment, hence the interest on the installments for the different periods is equivalent to the interest for one month on the sum of an arithmetical series whose first term is $1 and last term $114. One-half of ($1 plus $114) multiplied by 114, and this equals the interest for one year of one-twenty-fourth, or ($1 plus $114) multiplied by 114 and dividing the interest by this equated sum we have the equated rate of interest, which is 15.7 per cent.
In local building associations you avoid the expense of an admission fee, and in foreign institutions your monthly installments are twenty per cent. more. The par value of their shares is $100, and the monthly installments 60 cents per share. Your local building and loan association installments are $1 per share, the par value of which is $200 per share. Suppose every young man who is working for wages, be he printer, clerk, messenger or laborer, puts $10 per month in the Union Building and Loan Association, and if the series runs out in nine and one-half years he will have paid in $1,140, and the stock is then at par, and he draws out $2000. It encourages building and adds in this way more than any other association to the growth and business of the town. Help it along.

BREVITIES.

Local and General Intelligence.
Read the 50-cent ad. in to-day's Gazette of a recorded patent.

The Directors of the Agricultural Society held a meeting last evening and ordered the acceptance of the deed for the grounds and the money paid. They called a meeting for next Saturday.
Jim Duxbury, who for years has proven a bill of expense to Washoe county, was taken in again last evening as a common drunk. A tramp was also arrested by officer Nash in a box-car.
Fish Commissioner Mills sent down from Carson last evening 60,000 young Eastern brook trout to be planted in the Truckee. They were put in a small pond west of C. H. Stoddard's residence in Powning's addition, to be fed until they are strong enough to fight their own way in the river.
More Lawyers.
Last evening's Carson Tribune says: On Saturday last, the Supreme Court admitted Professor L. D. Brown, of the State University as an attorney to practice in all the courts of this State upon presentation of a certificate from the courts of the State of Ohio. Mr. C. H. Gest, a young gentleman who has been studying for some time with Judge King of Reno, passed a very creditable examination in open court, and was duly admitted as an attorney on the same day.
A Stranded Company.
A benefit will be given on Saturday evening at McKissick's Opera House for the Heine family. Admission, dress circle (reserved seats), 50 cents; gallery, 25 cents.
A Daddy.
Wells Drury is a daddy, and Dr. Bishop a grandpappy; the boy was born in San Francisco yesterday. The Gazette offers congratulations.
Good Cattle.
G. W. Mapes sold 51 head of cattle to Grayson, Owen & Co. that weighed 750 pounds. Six cents was the price paid.

WHERE IT HITS.

The Supreme Court Decision in the Water Suit.
Since the decision of Judge Bigelow in the Reno water case, giving them full possession of their pond, the company has spent about $50,000 in perfecting the plant and increasing the capacity. It now has a complete refinery of the best type, furnaces, smelters, etc., all complete, and was just beginning to run in shape when the discouraging news came that the Supreme Court had reversed the decision of the District Court, which was that the State had no right to tap the pond. This is a serious blow; not only to the stockholders but to this town, this county and this State. Just how serious, people who have not traveled through Montana and Utah can hardly imagine. If they could see the magnificent city of Denver, Pueblo or Butte, all built up entirely by such works, they could imagine what the difference means to Reno with the smelting works a success or the smelting works a failure. All these places have grown from small beginnings and there is nothing to prevent great results, if there was power to handle and room to spread. Strange to say the Central Pacific Railroad, the V. & T., and the N. & C., and every interest in the country except the State Government have done all that it was possible to do for the success of the works.
PERSONAL.
Mrs. Dr. Thoma left last night for Sacramento.
W. O. H. Martin left last evening for San Francisco.
Col. Hardesty passed east on this morning's overland.
W. T. Walsh of San Francisco is visiting Reno on business.
J. W. Slavan returned this morning from a trip to Oakland.
Theodore Winters came down yesterday from Washoe Valley.
Hon. Geo. Baker of Eureka passed west on last evening's overland.
James Miller and son, David, came in last evening from Long Valley.
Mrs. Pierce Evans departed last evening for Oakland to attend a sick niece.
Colonel W. J. Sutherland, an Emerald county mining operator, went below last evening.
Max Kohn received a telegram from San Francisco to-day saying that his wife is dangerous. Mr. Kohn will go below to-night.
U. S. District Attorney Haydon and daughter, Maggie, will leave this evening for Sacramento and San Francisco on a visit to relatives and friends.
Mrs. John Evans came up from San Francisco yesterday to attend the funeral of her father, the late J. F. Holdard. She was accompanied by her husband and little son.
Allen C. Bragg, editor and proprietor of the Gazette, has gone on a visit to his Long Valley ranch. All Nevada editors have ranches, and as Mr. Bragg is a very fine editor, he has a very fine ranch.
Little Edgar Wright, who is now visiting Reno, has rather unusually large ancestral tree still flourishing. He has both parents living, two grandfathers, two grandmothers, two great-grandfathers and one great-grandmother. His Reno great-grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Bragg, both hale and hearty and expecting to see another generation or two before they retire from the scene.

MEDAL DAY.

A Excellent Score by the Carson Guards.
The Carson Tribune of the 8th inst. says:
The shooting done by the Carson Guard yesterday in the monthly contest for the medals fully justified the claim of the Tribune in dubbing the Carson Guard the "Champion military shooting company of the United States," and by the way, the Tribune is prepared to back the claim by a wager of $500.
The first-class medal was won yesterday by George C. Thaxter with the big total of 47 creedmore and 80 ring, while the second-class was captured by the fine score for a young shot of 44 creedmore and 72 ring by Percy Parkinson. We append the score of the first ten:

	Creedmore	Ring
Thaxter	47	80
Saffell	45	73
Alley	44	73
Parkinson	44	72
Wright	43	68
Folsom	43	68
Cowling	44	64
Willis	41	62

CHURCHILL SCHOOLS.

Exercises Which Should be Encouraged.
A public written examination was held at St. Clair on April 1st and 2d, in which 22 pupils took part, representing five different schools. The examination was devised by the teachers of the county as a means of increasing an interest in education among the pupils and parents, and to promote more uniformly in methods of instruction, and the classification of pupils throughout the various schools. The examination was conducted by W. L. Smith and Miss Effie Hyde. The following list of names obtained the highest averages: Cora Harrigan, 85; Lizzie Wightman, 82; Harry Wightman, 78; Warren Dillard, 75; George Ferguson, 72; Grace Wightman, 72; Annie Theelen, 72; Lizzie Allen, 63; Lottie Fish, 71; Charles Watson, 53; Schuyler Lee, 65; Henry Ferguson, 55; Lem Allen, 55; Robert Lee, 54; Charles Allen, 52; Daisy Allen, 50.

Election of Officers.
The Union Building and Loan Association organized last evening by the election of L. D. Folsom, President; J. M. Fulton, Vice-President; C. T. Bender, Treasurer; V. P. McLaughlin, Secretary. They are ready for business now.

A Female Paradox.
A lady, old and growing older still, (as ladies will grow old, you know), became, in spite of age, as young as youth—but old, and old, and old, feeble, lame, and sore. A lady young became in spite of youth, as old as old, and old, and old, feeble, lame, and sore. That keeps a lady young, they fail to grasp. And yielding to disease, die in its fatal clasp. That truth is that woman's weakness may be subdued by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

For Throat Diseases and Coughs.
See Brown's Bronchial Troches. Like all really good things, they are indicated. The cures are sold only in boxes.
